End of 2008	Ms Hudson’s singles “I Kissed a Girl” and “Hot n Cold” charted at numbers 6 and 16 respectively in the “End of year chart – top 100 singles in 2008” published by Australian Recording Industry Association (ARIA), and numbers 4 and 5 respectively in the list of top selling songs on iTunes for 2008.	CAB 34 [76], RBFM 53-56
01/2009 – 11/2009	Following the release of the album “One of the Boys”, Ms Hudson embarked on a world concert tour, “The Katy Perry: The Hello Katy Tour”, performing across 20 countries.	CAB 83 [201]
05/2009	Steven Jensen (Ms Hudson’s manager) became aware of Ms Taylor’s application for the Designer’s Mark.	CAB 344 [18], CAB 393 [211]
08/05/2009	Ms Hudson filed a notice of opposition to the registration of the Designer’s Mark out of time, with an application for an extension of time to file a notice of opposition.	CAB 55 [133]
06/2009	Mr Jensen authorised Ms Hudson’s US lawyers to instruct her Australian lawyers to attempt to resolve the dispute with Ms Tylor on the basis of a mutually satisfactory co-existence arrangement. Mr Jensen became aware of further information about Ms Taylor, including that she had no connection to the music or entertainment industry. He considered there was no likelihood of the public confusing Ms Hudson’s merchandise with clothes designed by Ms Taylor and thought if this occurred, it would benefit Ms Taylor because of Ms Hudson’s popularity.	CAB 60 [146]
Between 05-08/06/2009	Ms Taylor received a cease and desist letter from Fisher Adams Kelly dated 21 May 2009, Australian trade mark attorneys acting for Ms Hudson, in relation to the Designer’s Mark.	CAB 53-55 [131]

Date	Event	Reference
13/05/2009	Ms Hudson performs the single “Waking Up in Vegas” on TV program “American Idol” in LA, USA.	CAB 83 [202]
16/06/2009	Following Ms Taylor’s discussion with journalist, Lara Sinclair, at The Australian, the article “US popstar rocks fashion designer’s world” is published. The article quotes fashion publicist, Trish Nicol, on Ms Hudson having “a feminine fashion style that would lend itself to a label of her own”.	CAB 56 [136]- [137]
16/06/2009	Ms Taylor becomes aware of Ms Hudson’s intention to launch a clothing line, following receipt of an email from Caroline Thompson which mentions “Katy Perry herself said back in March she was looking at launching her own clothes line”.	CAB 57 [139]
17/06/2009	Tom Kalikajaros posts on “Support for Australian designer Katie Perry” Facebook group created and read by Ms Taylor, listing Ms Hudson’s available clothing merchandise.	CAB 63 [148]- [150]

26/06/2009	Ms Hudson applied for an Australian trade mark for words KATY PERRY in respect of “apparel”, amongst other goods and services (application no. 1306481) (the Singer’s Mark).	CAB 64 [153], CAB 339 [3], CAB 345 [21], CAB 393 [211]
29/06/2009	Ms Taylor posted a video message on her YouTube channel for Ms Hudson, stating “I’m absolutely no threat to you whatsoever” and “I wish you all the success, but leave me to carry on my dream”.	CAB 65 [154]- [155]

01/07/2009	Holding Redlich Lawyers sent a letter to Ms Taylor offering to settle the dispute with a co-existence arrangement. This constituted a change in strategy, given Ms Hudson’s application for the Singer’s Mark, which could only proceed in respect of apparel with Ms Taylor’s consent. Ms Taylor later refused the offer.	CAB 67-68 [160], CAB 68-70 [161]-[165], CAB 71-72 [172]-[173], CAB 393 [211]
05/07/2009	Ms Taylor gives media interviews and an article in the Sydney Morning Herald appeared in which Ms Taylor stated that she is “a victim of opportunistic lawyers”, “there is no confusion between the two of us” and “her lawyers have come back to me wanting to have a more amicable settlement”.	CAB 66 [159]
15/07/2009	Ms Taylor, through new solicitors appointed on 15 July 2009, objected to the co-existence agreement because the agreement only addressed trade mark applications in Australia and would need to address the trade mark in overseas territories. In a letter from her new solicitors of that date, it was indicated that an amended deed that “will incorporate [Ms Taylor’s] instructions as to the terms that she would be willing to consider to resolve this dispute amicably” would be provided. No deed was ever provided.	CAB 70 [166], CAB 416 [322], CAB 420 [344], RBFM 40-41, RBFM 62-63
16/07/2009	Ms Hudson withdrew the extension of time application because it was in Ms Hudson’s best interests to avoid further publicity and incur unnecessary legal costs and it was likely to fail , and therefore her opposition to the Designer’s Mark could not proceed.	CAB 70-71 [167]-[169], CAB 73 [177]- [178], CAB 393 [211]
21/7/2009	The Designer’s Mark was entered on the Register of Trade Marks.	CAB 345 [23]

Date	Event	Reference
08/2009	Ms Hudson toured Australia, and KATY PERRY branded apparel and merchandise was sold at her concerts in Australia for the first time. Mr Jensen (her manager) was aware that such sales could constitute trade mark infringement of the Designer’s Mark and that there was a substantial risk that Ms Taylor would be successful in such action. However, in relation to merchandise, it did not occur to Mr Jensen that there would be any possibility that the public would be confused that clothes with the “KATY PERRY” name and brand on them were Ms Taylor’s clothes or otherwise associated with Ms Taylor. No contact was received from Ms Taylor. Ms Hudson had no intention to divert trade from Ms Taylor and no contact occurred on behalf of Ms Taylor to Ms Hudson’s lawyers at the time.	CAB 73-74 [178], CAB 74-76 [181]-[183], CAB 83 [201], CAB 345 [24], ABFM 7 T314.35, CAB 60 [146], CAB 230-231 [666]-[668], CAB 345 [24]
08/2009	Following an interview with Ms Taylor, the article “I beat Katy Perry” appeared in Who Magazine, which mentions that the Katie Perry line has “picked up” since Ms Taylor “made headlines” and that Ms Taylor was a “one-time fan” of Ms Hudson.	CAB 79 [191]
06/08/2009	Ms Taylor, through Mr Karandonis (her PR Manager), approached Ms Hudson’s team to hold a joint press conference for publicity purposes while Ms Hudson was in Australia. Mr Jensen declined.	CAB 77 [186], CAB 78 [189]- [190]
27/08/2009	Killer Queen LLC (Killer Queen), the First Respondent, was incorporated in California with Ms Hudson, using that name in the corporate documents, as its sole shareholder, director and officer, and controlling mind.	CAB 24 [37], CAB 346 [27], RBFM 50
