DIU19 & ORS
v
MINISTER FOR IMMIGRATION AND CITIZENSHIP & ORS
[2026] HCADisp 239
A19/2026

1 The applicants seek special leave to appeal from the whole of the judgment of the Federal Court of Australia (O'Sullivan J), which dismissed the applicants' appeal from the decision of the Federal Circuit and Family Court of Australia (Division 2), which, in turn, dismissed the applicants' application for review of a decision of the Administrative Appeals Tribunal (as it was then known) ("the Tribunal"). The Tribunal had confirmed an earlier decision of the delegate of the first respondent to refuse to grant the applicants protection visas pursuant to s 65 of the Migration Act 1958 (Cth).

2 The application for special leave to appeal does not raise any point of principle and any appeal, if special leave to appeal were granted, has insufficient prospects of success to warrant a grant of special leave. It is not in the interests of the administration of justice, either generally or in this case, for special leave to appeal to be granted.

3 Special leave to appeal is refused with costs.
